

ABSTRACT

Travelers are boarded onto a commercial passenger aircraft at a departure airport and the aircraft then flies to an arrival airport with no checked-in luggage on board. Luggage which belongs to the travelers and cannot be carried onto the aircraft is transported by cargo carrier to a location where the luggage can be retrieved by the travelers after they have landed at the arrival airport.

5